Annual Collection for St. Joseph's Seminary

Sixty priests of the New York Archdiocese are now serving as chaplains in the armed forces of the United States. Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York stated in a letter announcing the annual collection for the support of St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoodie, which will be read in the 376 parish churches of the New York Archdiocese on Sunday, May 24.

The archbishop designated that the collection be made at all the Masses on Trinity Sunday, May 31, "to enable us to continue to prepare a holy, zealous and well-educated priesthood." "Our generosity," the letter states, "is stimulated by the consideration that not alone in the Archdiocese of New York are the sons of Dunwoodie following their living vocation. Sixty of them are now ministering to the needs of our men in the armed forces of our country, and some of them are working in the home and foreign mission fields."

Archbishop Spellman also announced a dispensation from fast and abstinence on Memorial Day, which this year falls on an Easter Day, primarily a day of fast and abstinence.

Ellenville, May 22—Wawarsing Chapter, O. E. S., initiated one of the largest classes in several years at its regular meeting Monday evening when eight candidates were received into the order. They were: Mrs. John Ury, Mrs. Arthur Ury, Mrs. Ozone Ury, the Williams Bush, Mrs. Donald Hilton, Mrs. Sherman Loucks, Mrs. Harold Lumb, and Mrs. Kathryn R. King.

Epworth League Meeting Is Held

Name of Group Changed at Ashokan Session

The annual Kingston District Epworth League convention as such met in the Ashokan Methodist Church for its last session May 16, for the organization was changed from the Epworth League to "The Methodist Youth Fellowship" due to the action of the Union of the Three Branches of Methodism in 1939.

The high note of the convention was sounded by the guest speaker, Dr. Stanley Hopper of Drew University. Dr. Hopper, who led in a panel discussion which was profitable to the 170 youths present.

Earlton Chapter won the attendance cup from the Ashokan Chapter having 21 present and traveled 58 miles. The cup is awarded each year to the chapter having the highest score determined by the number of members attending multiplied by the miles traveled.

The church and church hall were beautifully decorated with patriotic colors and a warm welcome was presented by Doris Elmendorf, the president of the entertainment chapter.

The officers for the coming year were elected and the district superintendent, Dr. Arthur G. Carroll, of Kingston, officiated at the installation service which followed.

The District Youth paper, "Kingston Klipper," was distributed with many favorable comments. The paper is starting the third year being printed in May and November.

Fourteenth Convention Of United Lutheran Synod

"In the fourteenth annual convention of the United Lutheran Synod of New York—our first convention to be held with the United States at war—we shall not merely consider how the Christian Church is to be maintained during this crisis but how the Church can strengthen itself for the support of mankind now and in a peace that shall rule the world."

In this New York statement the Rev. Dr. Samuel Trexler, Synodical president, gave the theme of the convention to be held June 1-4, in Zion Church, Syracuse, New York, where will assemble approximately 500 clerical and lay delegates representing 250,000 baptized Lutherans in New York State, New England, northern New Jersey and parts of Pennsylvania.

The proceedings will open Monday evening, June 1, with the Holy Communion and presidential sermon, and subsequent events include the Brotherhood banquet on Tuesday evening addressed by the Rev. Dr. Abdel Ross Wentz, Gettysburg Seminary, and the ordination of 11 young men on Wednesday evening.

Misses Connors, Dolson Attend Fashion Forum

The Misses M. Connors and E. Dolson of Montgomery Ward's fashion department have returned from Glens Falls where they attended a fashion forum conducted by Miss Olive Smith, nationally-known stylist and fashion authority.

Full of enthusiasm for the new styles, Miss Smith said that "the picture looks bright indeed. Never have we seen so much color, so much appealing femininity in clothes. Casual suits and soft tone dresses will be more important than ever, with a new easy drape and softness. Afternoon dresses will be dressier, more colorful, frankly feminine."

Asked whether the war was expected to have any influence on fashion, Miss Smith replied, "Definitely. We will see it first in the predominance of color. American women don't like to wear black in wartime. They prefer brighter, cheerful, 'helpful' colors. We'll see lots of pastels. Pastels are patriotic."

"As for accessories," said Miss Smith, "the story can be summed up in the same single word, color. Costumes use two, three, even four colors—with hat, bag or gloves lending a brilliant contrast to the basic costume color. Handbags are still large, still pretty, but more practical than ever, with plenty of room for the dozens of gadgets women-in-defense must carry. Shoes, too, are comfortable, plenty of them low-heeled, for women expect to be (figuratively speaking) on their toes this spring."

Phenomenon of Waters Is They Never Freeze Over Except in Most Severe Winters

By GEORGE CULLEN

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Nestled in the rolling hills of New York's picturesque Finger Lakes region, Seneca Lake was selected by the navy for a huge training station because of a phenomenon so familiar to native inhabitants that it has ceased to excite comment.

The lake never freezes over in the cold upstate winters, except in unusually severe weather.

"This site was selected," said Republican Representative Taber of Auburn, "because Seneca Lake was the only substantial body of water in the northeastern part of the country that does not freeze over in the winter and it was desired to establish a training station where boys could, because of a moderately severe winter, be actively trained for work in the north."

Largest and deepest of New York's Finger Lakes, Seneca is famed in Indian legends. It stretches 40 miles through the hills of central New York and is frequently swept by storms which form waves which, residents say, rival those of the ocean. There are many tales of marine disasters on this miniature inland sea and among old timers there is a legend that the lake is so deep the bottom has never been reached.

The navy has selected a site on the lake shore near Willard for the training station which is estimated to cost about $20,000,000. Three thousand acres of rolling farm land will be used for buildings and facilities to train between 20,000 and 30,000 young men.

When the station is completed, this once sleepy and peaceful upstate area will be the center of a vast military development. Near by is the recently completed ordnance depot established by the army at Kendia.

Taber and Republican Representative Cole, Bath, are credited here with convincing the navy of the desirability of Seneca Lake as the site for a training station. When the matter first came up before the House naval committee, of which Cole is a member, naval officials expressed doubt about the availability of labor in the area.

Taber and Cole got in touch with labor organizations in the Finger Lakes region, Chambers of Commerce and public officials and soon assembled a mass of data which convinced the navy that not only was there sufficient labor available, but that water and transportation facilities also were ideal.

Speaking as a family man (he is the father of six children), Republican Representative Hall, Binghamton, has this advice for the House ways and means committee now working on a new tax bill:

"Don't lower the $400 income tax exemption for dependents. 'My six children,' said Hall in a statement, 'never let me forget that people with families need every consideration possible in order to raise their youngsters decently.'

"There are too many burdens being placed on the small wage and salary earners to warrant depriving these people of the protection which the $400 exemption gives them. When they are making such a gallant effort to keep their heads above water and feed their children, they should be given this exemption small though it is, for the benefit of the young Americans in their households who will have to face the ordeals of tomorrow."

Ulster Publicity Group Discusses Resort Promotion

Supervisors Consider Best Means to Advertise With Fund Voted by County Board

The first organization meeting of the Ulster County Publicity Committee, created at the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors and authorized to spend $1,000 in advertising the advantages of Ulster county as a vacation resort, was held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the court house with Jacob H. Rogers, chairman of the committee, presiding. At that time plans for a future meeting were discussed and it was decided that the various towns and city of Kingston should be represented at the next meeting by a citizens' committee which will work in conjunction with the supervisors' committee.

Members of this citizens' committee will be invited to attend the next meeting which will be held on Wednesday, next, at 3 o'clock for final organization and to discuss a plan for an advertising program.

On the supervisors' committee which met in session Friday afternoon is Supervisor Jacob H. Rogers of Saugerties, A. J. Snyder of Rosendale, Charles Kaiser of Wawarsing, Edwin W. Ashby of the Fifth ward and Joseph J. Koenig of the Ninth ward of the city of Kingston.

At the meeting Friday was Edward M. Huben of the commercial department of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation who presented various plans for advertising the advantages of the county as a vacationland. Among the ideas presented was one for cooperative advertising by the county and the resort proprietors. It was proposed that the $1,000 appropriation made available by the Board of Supervisors be expended for general publicity for the county at large and that for the county at large and that for the resort people.

Individual advertising which would be tied in with the county publicity advertisements. In this manner the county's general advertisement would be given greater pulling power and become more conspicuous to the readers of publications in which the advertisements would appear.

It was proposed to spend considerable of the county's appropriation in promotion advertising for the county, setting forth the advantages which the county has to offer and also to publicize the closeness of the county to the metropolitan area. Now with the motor practically taboo and the area served by a splendid bus and railroad service Ulster county has become a very attractive locality for summer guests who seek the advantages of the country and mountains without the necessity of traveling great distances. These advantages and others will be placed before the reading public through newspaper advertisements and the committee also discussed and inspected various samples of booklets and brochures which will be printed and made available through various agencies.

Efforts Are Outlined

Mr. Huben outlined briefly what the Central Hudson had done in the past to promote this locality as a summer and winter resort and pointed out ways in which the locality could be further publicized. The committee considered ways of putting before the public the advantages of the Ulster county region and this will be further taken up at the full committee meeting next Wednesday when the citizens' committee meets with the committee from the board.

The committee meeting as a supervisors' committee voted to send invitations to the various towns and the city to have designated from the various localities in the county a citizen interested in the county wide publicity, such person to meet next Wednesday with the committee and outline a plan for publicity. Appointment of such a committee was provided for in the original resolution adopted by the Board of Supervisors when the $1,000 publicity appropriation was voted. Members of the committee will serve without pay.

Among the matters discussed Friday afternoon was a plan for spending a portion of the appropriation immediately in metropolitan newspaper advertising and it was suggested that resort owners who desire to advertise in the same papers request their advertisements appear grouped about the Ulster county advertisement.

In this way the area will receive a more attractive and more conspicuous layout.

Among the matters decided at the meeting Friday was to have the publicity office located at the county court house, that address to be used in the area publicity but the present telephone office is maintained 24 hours a day for information to the traveling public and will be retained and manned by Central Hudson employees.

This telephone, 1405, has been widely advertised and large sign boards on the outskirts of the city inform the traveling public that information regarding local sections and areas may be secured by telephoning that number. This service, available 24 hours a day, in turn can direct the traveler to the location desired whether it be the mountain, farmland, lakeside or otherwise. In each locality is maintained local township associations of civic groups which in turn directs the traveler to the particular type of resort wanted.

Mexico Awaits Approval Of Congress to Declare War

Public Is Said to Be Furious Over News of Second Sinking in Eight Days

Mexico City, May 23 (AP)—Mexico lacked only the formality of apparently certain congressional approval today to become a full-fledged ally in the war against the Axis.

Her decision was made rapidly last night as a wave of public fury swept the country over the news that Axis submarines had sunk the second Mexican merchant ship within eight days.

Even while awaiting President Manuel Avila, Camacho's formal proclamation of war, the first in Mexico's history, the republic put precautionary measures against Axis aliens quietly into force and took its first military steps.

A special session of the full cabinet announced after three hours' deliberation that Congress would be called in special session "to authorize the President to declare the existence of a state of war."

Congress must be convened within 10 days, but next Thursday was set tentatively for the session and there were indications that the aroused public might insist on a meeting still earlier, possibly next Monday or Tuesday.

Russians Hold Out

In the Crimea, the Russians said they were continuing to hold out against powerful German-Rumanian forces on the Kerch peninsula, while the Germans were reported exerting new pressure on long-besieged Sevastopol, key Black Sea naval base.

German warplanes were said to have been pounding the base violently for the past 48 hours.

Other European war developments:

Aerial warfare—Vast squadrons of the R. A. F. swept across the English channel in daylight after British night raiders again blasted the German U-boat nest at St. Nazaire, France.

Submarine menace—President Roosevelt, acknowledging that the shipping situation was serious, declared that the Axis U-boat peril was now being solved.

"Our ships are going through and will continue to go through in growing numbers," he said.

Meanwhile, a mysterious broadcaster who identified himself as the commander of a German submarine lying a mile and a half off the Havana waterfront, warned the Cuban people that "very soon we will give you a surprise."

The broadcaster intimated that Havana's beached would be shelled.

Lehman Vetoes Fair Trade Bill

Governor Says Present Era in Retail Selling Is Hard Enough

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Governor Lehman vetoed a too general today a "fair trade practice" bill which he said covered everything "from regulation of price tags on merchandise to the elimination of industrial selling."

"We are now going through a period of enormous difficulty in the retail selling field," Lehman said. "With all the very necessary wartime regulations of prices by O. P. A.—regulations vital to the war effort—this is hardly the time for the state to start additional controls."

The measure, sponsored by Republican Senator Benjamin Feinberg, Plattsburg, was intended, in its own language, to curb "unfair and fraudulent competition and unsound and uneconomic methods of distribution."

It would have prohibited misrepresentation of prices as "wholesale," "marking up of merchandise to fictitious prices for bargaining purposes, and misrepresentation of goods as to quality ingredients or origin."

The bill also would have banned employers from selling employees or any other persons merchandise not handled in the regular course of their business.

Violation would have been a misdemeanor with fines of $100 to $500 for a first offense and $500 to $1,000 for subsequent offenses.

Merchants, particularly large department stores, favored the bill at a public hearing during the legislative session. Opposition came from some consumer groups and the American Labor Party which, claiming representation of 500,000 voters, said the bill would "prevent savings by workers, hinder the war effort and prevent business as usual."

"I have no sympathy with deception or misrepresentation in retailing or in any other branch of business," Lehman asserted. "But we now have ample provision in our penal law to protect the consumer against the worst of these practices and this bill adds little that is new."

A corporation formed to promote co-operation between farmers and hotelmen in the town of Wawarsing has been formed. Directors elected to serve for the first term are Joseph Rosenberg, Morris Krevat, Sam Lonstein, Michael Buchholtz, Hyman Drucker and Sam Wagner of R. D. KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 23, 1942

GOLDEN AGE

Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, in a rather unusual speech, recently lined up our American Revolution with other great events in the progress of liberty down to this present hour.

"The march of freedom of the past 150 years," he said, "has been a long-drawn-out people's revolution. In this great revolution of the people there were the American Revolution of 1775, the French Revolution of 1792, the Latin-American revolution of the Bolivarian era, the German revolution of 1848, and the Russian revolution of 1918. Each spoke for the common man in terms of blood on the battlefield. Some went to excess. But the significant thing is that the people groped their way to the light. More of them learned to think and work together.

"The people are on the march toward ever fuller freedom than the most fortunate peoples of the earth have hitherto enjoyed. No Nazi counter-revolution will stop it. Those who write the peace must think of the whole world. There can be no privileged peoples. We ourselves are no more a master race than the Nazis."

If he is right, this indeed is a revolutionary era, the greatest that the world ever has seen. Fortunate will be the children of this generation if they live to see the new peace established, with a square deal for all nations, and the will everywhere to maintain it.

NO MORE SERVICE

"This railroad is no longer operated primarily for the convenience of the traveling and shipping public." So runs a newspaper advertisement of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, which is plenty busy shipping soldiers and war supplies.

These few words sum up the general situation in which Americans now find themselves. People have been accustomed to having things done for their convenience. Advertisements emphasize the service which stores and business houses stand ready to render. In consequence, many have come to think that the purpose of all business is to minister to public convenience. Maybe in normal times it is.

These are not normal times. It is better to rely on one's own resources from now on. "Service" is out for the duration.

LUXURY COFFEE

Your ration of sugar will give you a spoonful for each of fourteen cups of coffee a week—and some more things. But if it is necessary to cut the coffee down, what then? And why? Only a few weeks ago there seemed to be plenty of coffee here and on the way from South America.

But ships are being sunk with coffee and other things. The famous Pan-American Highway is long, not finished in every section, some of it still very rough. Tires for trucks are the consideration in transport by road.

The coffee has been grown and is ready, but Axis submarines are spilling the morning drink into the sea. Sugar, coffee, tea, cocoa, spices are all being cut down. There is still plenty of good food, but the American kitchen begins to feel the war.

RESPITE FOR JAPS

Uncle Sam has many doors to his house, and the Japanese are getting their feet into a lot of them. They have overrun eastern Asia and the South Seas. Not being stopped, and finding themselves still going strong, with a pretty clear field, they are naturally confirmed in their notion that they are the biggest fellows on earth.

Uncle at present, like John Bull, is virtually ignoring the Japs in that quarter and devoting his attention to Europe and western Asia, where the big job is. The British and American idea is that when those areas are cleaned up and restored to normal, civilized operation, it will be time to take care of the Japs.

By that time they will have dug into their stolen property so deeply that it will be quite a job to pull them out and shove them back home, but the job can be done. And it will be very soul-satisfying.

LINE OF TALK

Every line of work has its own language, unintelligible to an outsider. This thought came from looking at the financial page of the newspaper and noticing a bulletin of the Boston wool market. Sales were mentioned of "quarter-blood combing bright fleeces in the grease," and of "a little three-eighths blood combing of the bright wool class." Fine Australian topmaking wools were bought, it seems, on a "soured basis."

Somebody doubtless knows what this is all about. It recalls the German who prided himself on his knowledge of all the European languages, and especially of English. He was floored when asked to translate a baseball story.

Gold teeth are helping to win the war: nearly half a million dollars' worth of gold fillings have been turned in. How about old gold spectacles?

A mid-western naval ordnance plant gave a prize for the best slogan. The winner is good advice for all of us: "Today, not tomorrow."

Victory comes from doing what is clearly impossible, and there's as much of it in the munition plants as on the battle front.

The world do move. The W.P.A. used to be the chief topic of conversation. Now it is the W.P.B.

Is Uncle Sam humping himself? Well, he'll soon be producing a complete airplane every eight minutes.

Everybody believes in holding down to 40 miles an hour, until he gets on the open road.

It isn't really true that laws are made for other people.

SPINAL CURVATURE DEFORMITY

One of the serious and distressing ailments of childhood is tuberculosis of the spine — Pott's disease. By the time it is discovered the child's back may be deformed and despite the treatment by plaster casts and steel and leather braces, the deformity is rarely completely corrected even though the tuberculosis is arrested or remains quiet, and the patient's life is saved. Even under the best of care, tuberculosis changes occur in the abdomen and spinal cord.

The treatment in these cases is the same as for tuberculosis everywhere in the body; that is rest. In these cases the treatment is rest in bed and mechanical supports which keep the bones of the spine, affected by tuberculosis, away from one another with little or no weight upon them.

However, physicians for years have been instructing patients and the public that any persistent pain in the back in children should be investigated, particularly if there is no apparent cause but a slight rise in temperature is present. Pain, muscular spasm and slight rise in temperature are the three outstanding signs or symptoms of Pott's disease. If these three signs are noted it is possible to prevent the deformity as the deformity does not occur until some time after these three signs are noticed.

Drs. I. R. Harris, Toronto, and H. S. Coulthard, Weston, in Annals of Surgery, Philadelphia, emphasize three early signs which permit the physician to recognize Pott's disease in its early stage.

1. The pain is in the spine and is relieved by weight bearing and is not relieved by rest.
 2. X-rays show that the disk or cushion between the spine bones is worn down or thin before the tuberculosis changes occur in the bones.
 3. Drawing off some of the infected material will yield pus containing the organisms of tuberculosis.

It is certainly gratifying to know that if parents will consult their physicians when pain occurs in the back, said pain being made worse by movement or weight bearing, the complete rest may prevent a lifetime deformity.

WAR CAUSES SHIFTS

War is likely to mean for a cooperative organization about what war means for other businesses—reorganization of operations on a wartime footing, says Tom G. Stitts, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Chief of the Cooperative Research and Service Division of the Farm Credit Administration.

"In Wisconsin," says Stitts, citing a typical example, "there is a dairy cooperative which has been making 22 per cent of the total butter output of one of the most important dairying counties in America. Before the war and before the Food-for-Freedom program got under way, this butter was made largely from farm-separated cream. Today this association has changed its major operation so as to provide for the manufacture of powdered milk. Its milk-drying equipment runs 24 hours of the 24, turning out 10,000 pounds of powder daily."

How Could U. S. Information Get to Berlin, Rome and Tokyo?
 Almost at Once Through South America

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 23—Many people have wondered how with all the censorship machinery any information could get to the enemy and whether, if something of value was inadvertently published, it wouldn't take a long time for it to reach a destination through roundabout channels.

The truth is Berlin and Rome and Tokyo have almost instantaneous communication with the United States by way of Argentina, Chile, and Brazil.

It is possible for Axis agents to sit in their offices in Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires and Santiago and listen to all the commentators and broadcasters in the United States, make a day-by-day analysis of American news and telegraph it instantly to Japan, Italy and Germany.

No censor can interfere with the dispatch of telegraph and telephone messages from these South American countries. The United States government has no authority over what is or is not done to supervise communications in the South American countries.

The governments of Brazil, Argentina and Chile could, of course, establish censorship supervision of their own telegraph and telephone lines, since they are technically at peace with the Axis powers, such a step is not in accordance with custom.

The problem has been causing a good deal of worry here. United States newspapers and radio stations necessarily will find themselves more and more restricted as to what they can publish because of the existence of such a major leak to the enemy.

The United States press has always been on the friendliest terms with Argentina, Brazil and Chile and while there is no disposition to ask these countries to enter a state of war with Germany and Japan, as this is wholly an internal matter, it is felt that to safeguard the interests of the United States, some supervision might well be imposed on the communications with Berlin, Rome and Tokyo from South America.

A strict censorship has been set up on outgoing messages from this country and yet it is quite possible that otherwise innocent looking telegrams might contain clues to the departures of American vessels from our ports. The Axis agents in Latin America doubtless have a network not only to gather information from the two continents but a system of direct communication with Axis submarines. Thus short wave radio apparatus throughout South America can contact German and Italian submarines, giving them information relayed from secret agents inside the United States.

It is most regrettable that at a time when the United States is giving so much of its life blood to the protection of democracy and freedom that Argentina, Brazil and Chile should permit communication directly from those countries to Berlin and Tokyo as well as Rome.

The situation is believed to have engaged the attention of high officials here but it is not known what steps have been taken, if any, to persuade the South American governments that a continuance of the leak cannot but be harmful to the people of the United States.

The communication system from the three principal South American countries lines up about as follows:

Buenos Aires: Telephone direct to Berlin, Rome and Madrid; telegraph direct to Berlin, Rome, Tokyo, Bern and Stockholm.

Rio de Janeiro: Telephone to Berlin, Rome, Lisbon and Madrid; telegraph to Berlin, Rome, Tokyo, Lisbon, Madrid and Bern.

Santiago, Chile: Telegraph to Berlin and Tokyo.

The problem is understood to have been recognized as a perplexing one ever since the United States entered the war last December. No solution appears to have been found. Meanwhile, the existence of the leak emphasizes the importance of guarding carefully every bit of information that might possibly be exported from the United States by mail, by radio, by broadcast, and by the transmission of telegraph and telephone messages from individual and business firms inside the United States which may be innocently the carriers of vital information sought by enemy agents. ## "AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

It was on a June day in 1932 that Bill Roedell, now Sergeant William T. Roedell of the Kingston police department, had the honor of donning the gloves and stepping a round with Max Schmeling, world heavyweight champion, at his training camp at Greentick Park.

Sergeant Roedell, who is a veteran of the World War, won honor in his younger days as a boxer, and staged a number of bouts in the city that will be recalled by boxing fans.

As far as I can recollect Sergeant Roedell is the first Kingston man to have the distinction of boxing a world heavyweight champion.

I also recall that in the 1920's when I attended the meetings of Kingston Chapter, No. 155, Order of the Eastern Star, the exceptionally fine drills that were staged. These drills were put on by the late Dave Boyd of Orchard street, who was noted as a drill master. Mr. Boyd would call upon to prepare a special drill of any character could be depended upon to fill the bill. His work in preparing the many drills put on by the members of Kingston Chapter in those years will be recalled with pleasure, not only by those who took part in the drills but by those who witnessed them.

The other day I read an item in the Freeman to the effect that the local bus line was considering adopting the plan of having the bus stop only at every other corner on the routes. This reminds me

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—In one of the temporary buildings on the upper reaches of the Mall, a new army corps is in the making.

It's the army civilian specialists Corps. It's chief is Dwight F. Davis, formerly secretary of war and governor general of the Philippine Islands under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover.

Although the "brain corps" is an infant organization and has had no more publicity than the announcement of the President's executive order establishing it, already applications are pouring across Davis' desk at the rate of one-thousand a day and the corps already has a long list of requirements from the army for men needed.

There has never been anything like it in the army before and its only precedents in the present war are the Navy and Great Britain's civilian technical corps.

The officers and enlisted men of the corps will have uniforms similar to those of the army; will get paid at army or civil service levels. They will enlist for the duration or in some cases for specific jobs which might take only a few months.

The corps generally will take men over draft limits or men with physical deficiencies or other reasons for not being acceptable in the army or navy, but who have special training and abilities that the army needs. The corps is determined that it shall not become a way out for draft evaders but that Draft evaders and men of the accomplishments that the corps seeks don't belong in the same class.

Davis, in explaining the Corps said: "A one-legged or one-eyed man, if he has the special talents required, will be enlisted or commissioned just as quickly as any one else. Brains, not physique will be our test."

"Stinnett couldn't have passed army physical requirements. We would commission such an expert almost immediately."

Some of the corps will serve overseas in the fighting lines—probably mostly technicians or inventors and war manufacturers who wish to observe first hand their products under actual battle conditions.

Aside from Davis and his staff, no appointments have been made yet, but it will happen any day now. The first appointments may be experienced business men in each corps area to expedite the work of the corps area commanders in filling their "brain corps" requirements.

About the only man in the "brain corps" who won't have a commission or enlisted rating will be 62-year-old Dwight Davis. There probably will be few who have a better background in utilizing them to the regular army than Davis. He is a lieutenant general that it was first rumored Davis would get. He went into the World War a captain of infantry; came out a lieutenant colonel; served four years as a colonel in reserve. He turned down the stars, believing that he can best serve the corps as its civilian chief.

These Women

'We'll Win!' Says Busy Eve Curie

By ADELAIDE KERR
Wide World Features Writer

Eve Curie is back from a swing around the Russian and eastern war fronts with applause for America's war effort.

The French-born daughter of the discoverers of radium flew across the Atlantic to Egypt, visited Libya, the Levant States, Iran, Russia, India, Burma, China and returned by much the same route. The purpose of her trip was a newspaper reporting job which also gleaned material for lectures and a book.

"The differences I noted on my trip out and my trip back were tremendous," she said on her return to New York. "The return impression was encouraging. We felt that America moved in very quickly, that her effort was tremendous both in sending material and in maintaining lines of communication. We were saved last year by England, and this year by Russia. Probably next year we shall be saved by the United States."

"The United Nations will win. Their total strength is enough to beat the Axis. But they have a very hard job because they have to fight in so many places. The Allies were not prepared for war in the Pacific, but the Japs were equipped, determined and bold. I was shifted from a very small front to a 'hot over.' Both England and America have to adapt themselves to this situation which means shipping to and being in a great many places at one time."

To Miss Curie the high spot of her trip was her four visits to the Russian front.

"In Russia I had the impression of a great war machine prepared for a long time," she said. "The Germans have met a powerful enemy. It was obvious, from the tanks and ammunition strewn all over, that they had withdrawn in disorder. The proportion of ground they have lost is not very great, but the Russian generals say 'Our orders are to encircle and destroy.' They are primarily interested in destroying the German war machine. I had an impression of determination and confidence in Russia. Their slogan is 'We will beat the Germans in 1942.'"

Miss Curie is slim, dark, quiet of manner and famous for her chic. But she gives little time to clothes, these days. All her efforts are bent on work. She is making a brief lecture tour now and has scheduled a four months' tour encircling the country in the fall. She left France soon after the fall of Paris and has since supported the Free French cause.

Women of Nazi-occupied countries, who must remain nameless, are making interesting news. Twenty-eight Norwegian women recently escaped from the country in a fishing boat, crossed the North Sea and landed on Shetland Island. . . . A Czech woman is in charge of a secret short wave radio transmitter, sending out information on German military moves and on conditions inside the country. . . . Another Czech woman has been executed for circulating anti-Nazi leaflets. . . . A Soviet woman captains a small freighter carrying munitions from Britain to the Soviet Union. . . . ## Fashion

Clap Hands for Wartime Styles

By DOROTHY ROE

Wide World Fashion Editor

Neither war, flood nor pestilence will stay the American woman in her quest for clothes that are smart, appropriate and practical.

That's Sophie Gimbel's reply to the question: "How will the war affect fashion?"

"Women are buying fewer dresses and suits, but better ones," says Mrs. Gimbel, designer for one of America's most famous shops. "They are buying more hats, blouses and accessories, using them to make one costume do the work of several."

W.P.B. restrictions on styling and yardage win Mrs. Gimbel's wholehearted approval. Like most experienced dressmakers, she believes that good clothes always are simple. The government order only makes simplicity compulsory.

Women who have resolved "not to buy a thing this year" are practicing false economy, in the opinion of Mrs. Gimbel, who believes a well-balanced wardrobe saves last-minute scrambling shopping.

A basic year-round wardrobe she outlines thus:

Two medium-weight wool suits, one light, the other dark. Wear them under a fur coat in winter, without a coat spring and fall.

One silk suit for street wear spring and summer, under a coat in winter.

Six blouses, some tailored, some frilly.

One cloth coat.

One fur jacket.

Three silk dresses, one dark and simple, one colored and "super," in any fabric except lame or velvet, which can be worn only in winter.

Get the best accessories you can afford, advises Mrs. Gimbel, and you'll be ready for come-what-may.

Girl Absentees Hit

Legal steps have been taken by the Ministry of Labor against girl war workers alleged to have persisted in absenteeism after repeated warnings. It is reported in London. This is the first case of its kind under the Emergency Powers Acts, and two girls are defendants. Both volunteered to leave their homes to do war work. A high rate of absence from work among girl workers in some Midlands factories is causing great concern among employers.

THIS HASTY MARRIAGE PROMPTS SOME QUESTIONS ON ETIQUETTE

"S.O.S. Mrs. Post, please!" This is the arresting beginning of a letter which continues: "Help is certainly what I need. To make the story as short as I know how, my daughter's fiancé had to go to the army and as she works far away from home she had to think quickly and act without her family's advice. So they were married before we had met him and before she had met his family."

"Since the usual circumstances, to which rules apply, do not exist, none of us know who should do what, first. Shall I write to him—my unknown son-in-law in the army? Shall I write to his mother? And shall my daughter write to his mother? Or should his mother be expected to do everything first? She knows about the marriage and had heard about my daughter before that but as they lived in a distant city there was no chance for any of us to meet."

The principal answer to this is not to expect others to know these particular rules because only those who have had several marriages in their families are likely to know. Correctly, it is true that you should write to your "unknown" son-in-law; his mother should write to your daughter. His mother should write to you, but since she is just as likely to be waiting for you to make the first move, it is always best in these circumstances to build a bridge rather than to create a breach.

Therefore, unless his mother writes you promptly, I think that you and your daughter would be wise to write to her rather than wait for her to make a move, which she may be expecting you and your daughter to make first.

Blame Schickgruber!

When the inner tubes finally peek through those worn spots on your tires, and you put the old bus up for the duration...when you run out of sugar on Friday and can't get your next ration until Monday...when you keep your house at 60 degrees to save oil, although you prefer it at 75...when the income tax takes a good part of the money you've been saving for new furniture...when you give up leisure hours you used to take for granted, and work instead...go ahead—get good and sore about it, but don't look around near you for someone to blame—blame Schickgruber!

Yes, we know that the people in charge of the war effort don't always do things the way we think they should be done...but, remember, it's a tough job, and the reason why these drastic emergency measures have to be taken at all can be traced to Schickgruber and his gang. Don't waste any of your energy in petty peevishness against fellow Americans—blame Schickgruber! He started a long time ago, when he was an unsuccessful house painter in Germany, to take away the comforts and luxuries you are just now beginning to give up. First he enslaved his own homeland, and to carry out his mad plan of world conquest, made his subjects transform their meager comforts into the weapons of war.

He figured that the people he planned to attack had grown so used to comforts and luxuries that they would refuse to give them up to spend what they cost on the necessary armament to resist him. His first victims did wait too long. He believes the same thing about Americans...but this time, he is mistaken. We are going to give up enough comforts, not only to resist him, but to destroy him.

So go ahead, if you feel like it—get burned up! Work up a good hate for Schickgruber, his Axis and all the gangster ideas he represents. Get sore enough to take a sock at him yourself, and don't be disappointed because you think you can't reach him. You can! Every extra pound of textiles you turn out will speed the day when an overwhelming burden of American production will crush him.

Who is Schickgruber? Haven't you heard? He changed his name when he gave up house-painting and started his war racket. Call him Hitler, now...Adolf Hitler. Let's keep production building up, and it won't be long before we change his name again—this time to MUD!

Bicycles are definitely coming back as a means of transportation for the "man about town". So you better start limbering up, fellows. It will take a lot of good leg work to pull up some of these hills, especially if friend wife decides she wants to ride too.

Jokes about the tire shortage are growing thin—like the tires.

Farmers Discuss Labor Shortage

Area Session Is Held at Milton School

A large group of farmers and several representatives of the United States Employment Service met at the Milton school Thursday night to discuss plans for meeting the serious labor shortage. Arthur J. Poelma of Highland, chairman of the special county farm labor committee presided. Joseph King, state farm representative of the Employment Service pointed out that the Kingston and Newburgh offices will shortly employ a special farm placement man.

Colonel Frederick Evans, district leader of the Employment Service, also reported that the township of Lloyd surrounding the village of Highland, formerly under the jurisdiction of the Foughkeepsie office will be served by Kingston in the farm placement work.

Mr. King explained the Farm Cadet Service planned jointly by the State Agricultural Defense Committee, the State Department of Education and the Employment Service. Through this program school students are being enrolled for summer work on farms. The schools have charge of the enrollment and the Employment Service places the cadets upon application from farmers. At present over 7,000 farm cadets are enrolled in the New York city schools alone. Local arrangements for food and shelter must be made but adult supervisors will be sent along with the cadets. Applications for farm cadets may be obtained at the Farm Bureau Office in Kingston.

It was pointed out that farmers are likely to be forced to use inexperienced help, particularly for harvest operations, but the consensus of opinion voiced by many of those present indicated that no foodstuffs should spoil in the fields if growers will co-operate with the employment service and make plans to draw upon all sources of available labor supplies.

Any farmers in need of steady or seasonal workers should make application for help at once through the nearest office of the Employment Service. The actual labor shortage will be judged by the number of unfilled requests on hand. Therefore it is important for farmers to anticipate their labor requirements as far in advance as possible and apply for the needed assistance. Employment offices are located in Kingston, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie. Special farm labor committee representatives were appointed in many of the townships of the county. These persons will be the contact men for the Employment Service in the various towns and farmers can get detailed information from them. Representatives appointed were as follows: Town of Esopus, A. Rai-

Facts on Immunization

Whooping Cough

Many of us now consider whooping cough as one of the milder childhood maladies. It is true that in the child of school age whooping cough rarely causes death or serious illness. Unfortunately, however, whooping cough is one of the most dangerous of diseases in the early years of life, killing more young children than any other communicable disease except pneumonia. We regard infantile paralysis, epidemic meningitis, and diphtheria with dread, but few of us realize that at the present time whooping cough destroys more children than these three diseases combined. In addition, whooping cough frequently leaves children in a weakened condition for years, and what is still worse, in a few instances, actually causes destruction of the brain.

leaving the child seriously affected mentally or even in a state of complete idiocy. It is therefore of the highest importance to prevent the development of whooping cough in the baby or young child or else defer an attack until the school years at which time the child is very rarely affected seriously.

A whooping cough vaccine has now been developed which is highly effective, and will prevent the development of the disease in most instances or else cause it to appear in a mild form. The vaccine must be injected by the physician in three separate doses at one or two weeks intervals. This immunization should be done between the age of six and nine months. At this age the reactions are rarely severe and never dangerous and every infant should have the benefit of this immunizing procedure.

It cannot be too often repeated or strongly urged that now is the time when every effort should be made in preventive work, as with the development of the war we may expect to be visited by new and dangerous epidemics and plagues and we should therefore now protect ourselves against those common dangerous diseases with which we are familiar. It must also be repeated that at the present time we enjoy medical facilities which have no equal on this globe. However, it is certain, that many of our physicians who are at present practicing in our midst will be called to duty with the army or navy and those who are left behind may be sorely pressed with their enlarged duties.

Now is the time to call upon your physician and take advantage of his good offices, not only for immunization against whooping cough but for vaccination against other diseases and for general health protection.

Importance of Civilian Morale Is Stressed

Albany, N. Y., May 22—Importance of civilian morale in the nation's war effort is stressed in a handbook sent out today to all upstate War Councils by the recently organized Section for Citizen Mobilization, State War Council.

Entitled "The Community Handbook on Citizen Morale," the 20-page booklet presents a plan of action to help communities, groups and individual citizens in New York state to build the morale necessary for victory.

The handbook suggests plans for carrying out citizen morale programs through committees composed of representatives of city governments, colleges, schools, women's agencies, business, labor, nationality and racial groups, and service agencies. Practical ideas for the use of radio, press, films, patriotic observances and special institutes in furthering the morale-building program are also outlined.

Keynoting the handbook is a statement by Governor Herbert H. Lehman, chairman of the State War Council, in which he said, "National morale is the most important factor in our victory. A strong national morale is an indispensable aid to victory. Morale is strong when individuals have definite and inspiring goals, leaders whom they trust, a belief in their fellow citizens which will make them strong in the face of obstacles and dangers."

In a message to local communities, Lieutenant Governor Charles Poletti, Coordinator of State War Plans, said, "The work of building citizen morale is, in the last analysis, a forming of public opinion and a public faith strong enough to sustain our war efforts until victory is achieved, and steadfast enough to see us through the peace."

Dr. Dixon Ryan Fox, president of Union College in Schenectady, is chairman of the Advisory Council of the Section for Citizen Morale. Serving on the council are:

Rationing has reached the debutants in Britain. The 1942 debutants will "come out" at the Queen Charlotte's Hospital Ball at Grosvenor House, London. All are of the 1924 group, and many are doing war work or waiting to go into the services. So many mothers applied for tickets that a "rationing" plan was adopted. Many of the gowns worn will be renovations.

Pastor-Mauriello in Draw; Bob May Still Fight Louis

Mike Jacobs Will Match Boxers Providing Army Gives Okay on Louis for Summer Bout

By SID FEDER

New York, May 23 (AP)—The underdog of the year would be to say today that the look on Joe Louis' face was one of simple surprise when he heard the announcement that gave him Mike Mauriello a draw with Bob Pastor.

And since Promoter Mike Jacobs felt the same way, Uncle Mike said today he "didn't see why" the outcome of last night's ten-round thriller in Madison Garden "should change whatever plans are in the making" for a late-June or early-July tussle between rapid Robert and the bomber.

Of course, everything still hinged on whether Uncle Sam's army would give Mike and Private Joe the green light for that fight. If the okay comes along, Mike indicated he would go ahead, despite what happened last night. The chances are, however, that for various reasons the fight will go to Cleveland or Chicago, instead of New York, with the Ohio city in front just now.

Those at ringside last night came pretty close to being unanimous that Pastor had whipped Mauriello, in spite of the Fordham Haller's fast start, and a finish in which he and Bob stood head to head and banged away for minutes at a time. A crowd of 11,327 customers chipped in to a gross pot of $22,972.

Of 25 boxing writers polled, 22 thought Pastor won, two agreed with the draw decision and one believed Mauriello finished top. This corner gave Pastor six rounds. Mauriello won two and called two even.

Joe was with the majority. While Announcer Harry Balogh was picking up the officials' scorecards, Louis remarked to the fellow next to him, "I think Pastor won." And even Joe's customary deadpan popped in astonishment when Balogh broadcast the "draw" verdict. Judge Charley Draycott called it for "Tami, Judge Marty Monroe balloted for Pastor and Referee George Walsh voted a draw.

There's no denying that Mauriello was an improved fighter last night. What's more he had the benefit of expert advice and assistance from the veteran fight handler, Joe Gould, in his corner. This was the first time Gould had worked with Mauriello and the effect was about the same as the night Joe handled Billy Soose the first time, just about a year ago. That night, the Pennsylvania College boy won the New York state version of the middleweight championship from Ken Overlin by a decision which also was disputed by many ringers.

But Mauriello was up against an old master last night, and from the third round through the eighth, the master was giving the pupil a fair country lesson in the art of whacking whippers. In the fourth, Pastor gashed Tami's right eye and for the next four rounds he beat the upstart youngster to the punch and generally cuffed him around.

Cleveland loomed as a likely spot for the Pastor-Louis shindig largely because of blackout regulations in Pa. Knickerbocker's village, and because Manager Jimmy Johnston said Pastor would never fight here again. There was a rumor that the army had okayed the fight for July 7, but Jacobs and the army denied this flatly.

Frisch Waves His Wand—Elliott Clicks at Third

By DUKE MORAN
Wide World Features

Pittsburgh—It's Bob Elliott's third year in baseball's big show but the big blond may cop some sort of "outstanding rookie" laurels because he's the hero of one of the neatest bits of baseball alchemy in recent years.

Bob was an outfielder—and a good one—until he showed up at spring training this year. Now he's a third baseman and he's so good Pittsburgh Pirate followers think he may equal the exploits of Pie Traynor, the Bucs' immortal "hot corner" guardian.

The magic wand, which transformed Bob from an outfielder good enough to crash the all-star lineup last year into an infielder, was waved by the Pirates' manager, Onkel Franz Frisch, in a moment of desperate expediency.

Lee Hardley, who was expected to handle third for the Bucs this year was injured in an auto accident during the winter and his shoulder went lame. There was nobody else so Frisch told Elliott:

"You're my third baseman." Then Frankie crossed his fingers and hoped for the best. It happened.

Elliott fitted in at third as if he were born there. Aside from ironing out a few natural flaws, Frisch hasn't had a day's worry about the position since—but the opposition has had plenty.

Failed To Fool Him
They figured they would prove Bob was an infielder by mistake—this mistake was theirs. They tried to make him look foolish with a few drag bunts but the big fellow fielded the dribbles like a whirling dervish and threw the runners out with a rifle-shot arm.

Now, when enemy teams bunt in Elliott's direction they figure it's only a sacrifice and dutifully utter thanks if anything better develops.

The husky lad is equally adept at knocking down smoking grounders and he knows what to do with runners on base.

In a recent St. Louis game Elliott charged halfway across the diamond to spear a slow roller and in the same gesture threw the runner out—causing that feather-footed gent to almost freeze from the shock. Other runners on the paths never moved—they never had a chance.

Elliott's bat boomed a merry tune in helping the Bucs to win several early season games. Then he slumped—and his fielding held up, so Frisch didn't worry particularly. Frankie's unusual sagged front paid dividends because Bob's batting average began to pick up flesh again and now he's respectably close to 300.

Bob Elliott ... experiments works.

He's Timely Hitter
The 185-pounder who winters at El Centro, Cal., doesn't figure to be a 300 hitter but he's a timely clubber with plenty of moxie and power. He was "beamed" last year and suffered from the effects but he finished the season with a .273 average and 76 runs batted in, and he has yet to show his gun-shy.

Bob likes to wisecrack about his transformation into an infielder. "I made seven errors the first time I tried to play third several years ago," he chuckled. "I finally got it down to two or three a game but the work was too tough so I quit and became an outfielder. Now look at me, I'm back where I started."

hanging up their eighth victory in ten starts.

Wally Moses and Bob Kennedy led a 15-hit attack on Virgil Trucks and Johnny Gorsch, Moses with two doubles and Kennedy with three singles.

Johnny Humphries was credited with the victory, although he yielded nine of the 11 Detroit hits, including a homer by Dixie Parsons.

Two managers missed the final outs in the night games. Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox was chased in the ninth for protesting a baseline decision by Umpire Bill Grieve and Hans Lobert of the Phils was banished late in the final frame at Philadelphia.

Proceeds from games in the nation's capital, where the New York Yankees meet the Washington Senators, and at Boston, where the Red Sox take on the Philadelphia Athletics, will go to help care for the families of those who fall on the fighting fronts.

The two contests are part of a series of 16 scheduled in the two leagues for the fund.

Ted Williams Quits Game; Enlists as Seaman in Navy

Acc Red Sox Ballplayer Says He'd Glad It's All Over; in Line for Commission

Boston, May 23 (AP)—Ted Williams always has been reckoned as a "popoff" but the volatile and willowy wallpaper managed to grit his teeth through a lot of adverse heckling on the recent western swing of the Boston Red Sox—because he felt that at the end of the trail he was going to be Theodore F. Williams, seaman, second class.

It's not unlikely that the curly-haired slugger, who led the American League with his amazing .406 average last fall and then led the all-American controversy league with his presidential appeal classification into 3-A during the winter, did some slight simmering at some of the barnyard moos he collected on the last western swing.

"But, it's all right now," grinned Ted as the naval aviation board accepted his enlistment, "I'm glad I kept my mouth shut and I'm tickled to death I made it."

Williams wouldn't say so but there was no question that he had been somewhat worried about the stiff naval tests which decide whether you are fit to fly Uncle Sam's planes.

People Have Been Swell
"It wasn't bad," Ted said as he was sworn in to become one of the navy's flying cadets, probably in the next few months. "The people have been swell to me and I hope this will show them how much I appreciate their feeling toward me."

Ted's status will shift from seaman, second class, to cadet when he starts active service, and, if he completes the difficult nine-month flying course, he will be slated for an ensign's commission.

Williams, who passed all his examinations with flying colors, kidded about the hearing test, recounting how a doctor came stealing behind him and asked in a whisper:

"Can you hear well, Ted?" "I said: 'Can I hear you? Why I can hear those hecklers up in the 40th row!'" Williams said with his famous grin.

Hits by Al Zadany and Sagendorf in First Inning Drives in Only Marker

Coach Cliff Miller's Kingston High School baseball team bounced back into the victory column again Friday afternoon at the municipal stadium by scoring a slim 1 to 0 victory over Highland.

In edging out the Highlanders, the Maroon players gave their best exhibition of the season to date.

Bill Van Buren was the nominee on the pitching mound for the Maroon varsity yesterday and he proceeded to turn in a four-hit ball game. Benny Ligotino, Highland's finger, also gave up four hits but was touched for one run, which told the story.

Kingston rushed over the only marker of the ball game in the initial frame after Crosby was thrown out by Patrick, the second baseman. Al Zadany then wheeled into one of Ligotino's fast pitches and slammed a double over third base into leftfield. Rod Sagendorf quickly pushed Zadany in with a single over second. That was the big run which meant the difference between victory and defeat.

Highland made a threatening gesture to tie up the ball game in the fifth inning after two were out. Gaffney looped a single over third and Cappelzi dropped a Texas leaguer into short center. Ransom, coming in for a catch, missed it. Crosby, who backed up Ransom on the play, picked up the ball and threw into Zadany who tagged Gaffney for the third out of the frame.

Both clubs made more threats at pushing runs over the platter in the next few innings but the pitching of Van Buren and Ligotino brushed off all rallies in the bud. Van Buren had Highland handcuffed until the fourth when Murphy singled through short for the first single off the Kingston pitcher.

Kingston will play Poughkeepsie High School in a return game at the stadium Wednesday afternoon. Poughkeepsie has won nine games in a row. Coach Sammy Kallach will undoubtedly select Don Hempt, the no-hit king, against the Maroons again. Hempt will try for his third half of fame game against the Millermen.

The boxscore:

Wins First Game

The newly organized Island Dock softball team won its first game Friday night by defeating the Bombers at Hasbrouck Park to the tune of 8 to 6. Manager Val Skop is challenging the Hilt-

There will be a meeting to form a Ladies' Duck Pin League at the Central Recreation alleys Wednesday night, at 7:30 o'clock.

Ball Players Will Donate Services in Two Contests Today for Army-Navy Fund

Giants Defeat Brooklyn 5-1 in First Game of Big Series; Melton Gains 5th Win

(By The Associated Press)
Almost anything can happen in the seven major league baseball games scheduled today, but a sure winner in two of them is the Army-Navy Relief Fund.

Proceeds from games in the nation's capital, where the New York Yankees meet the Washington Senators, and at Boston, where the Red Sox take on the Philadelphia Athletics, will go to help care for the families of those who fall on the fighting fronts.

The two contests are part of a series of 16 scheduled in the two leagues for the fund.

An added attraction at Boston will be a curtain-raiser between service teams, with Sailor Bob Feller pitching for the Navy and Soldier Hugh Mulcahy opposing him for the Army squad.

Army and Navy bands will be on hand, and all high ranking officers of the services in the Boston area have been invited.

Reservoirs Gain By Heavy Rains

Spillway at Ashokan Is Not Overflowing, However

The rainfall, starting with Tuesday and up to 8 o'clock this morning, including the heavy rain shortly after 4 o'clock this morning, has resulted in a decided gain in storage at the Ashokan and Gilboa reservoirs. Total now is at about 83 per cent of capacity, which is better than at any time during 1941. Total precipitation during the period was 3.20 inches at Ashokan and 2.44 inches at Prattville. For the 24 hours up to 8 o'clock this morning there was a rainfall of .82 inch at Ashokan.

At Ashokan the reservoir is still some distance from the "run over" condition. The last time that the reservoir was completely full and running over was in the spring of 1940, when water was running over the spillway from May 28 through June 13.

The Esopus creek at Phoenicia was reported to be high this morning but Deputy Sheriff Herbert Segelken reported that the creek was not at flood stage and no apparent damage had been done by the high water. The Sawkill was reported high and bordering on spring freshet conditions.

At the Board of Water Supply office in Ellenville it was reported that a heavy shower struck that locality about 3:30 o'clock this morning. The streams are well up, approaching conditions when the ice went out in the spring, but are not at flood height. Rainfall at Lackawack for the four days period and up to 8 o'clock this morning was 2.90 inches.

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. office reported no unusual trouble as a result of the heavy storm this morning. There were two or three calls for minor difficulties, but nothing of importance.

Chapel Being Rebuilt

The Chapel of Christ the King at Camp St. George at DeWitt Lake is being rebuilt by the ladies of the St. George Church of Newburgh under the direction of O. Roy Greene, church director, and W. L. Burnett, owner of the park. During the summer Holy Eucharist will be celebrated in the chapel every Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. A minister will take charge of these services and about 50 choir boys will also take part. Several churches are arranging to hold their picnics on Wednesdays this summer.

Feinberg Praises State War Ballot Commission Today

The recently created bipartisan State War Ballot Commission to handle the absentee military vote was praised in a statement issued today by State Senator Benjamin F. Feinberg of Plattsburgh, co-sponsor of the measure.

Introduced by Republican legislative leaders, the bill establishing the commission was approved unanimously by the 1942 legislature, not a single Democrat voting against it. It was signed by Governor Lehman.

Discussing the measure which advances pre-election machinery five weeks and is designed to assure voting privileges to about 500,000 New Yorkers in the nation's armed services, Senator Feinberg said:

"I think the Republican party has done a good job in this bill. If our fighting men cannot avail themselves of this act it is not up to us, because then the cause and circumstances are beyond our control. We have done everything possible to give every New York state soldier, sailor and nurse a chance to vote."

Explaining that several conferences had been conducted on the bill in the draft stage, Senator Feinberg said the governor was represented by his counsel, Nathan R. Sobel, and by Secretary of State Michael F. Walsh. Kenneth S. MacAffer, Albany county Republican chairman and Senator Feinberg were present.

"Mr. Sobel proposed an alternative bill for the Democratic side in the draft stage, in which he included many of the features of our bill. He did not, however, include provision for a bipartisan election commission of Democrats and Republicans, but would have left the job solely in the hands of the secretary of state, which is contrary to express provisions of the constitution."

"I have read the governor's statement with a great deal of surprise. It is difficult to understand how the governor arrived at any conclusion this bill will impede or deprive men in the service from casting their votes."

"The intent of the bill is to liberalize the election law so in every way the soldier and sailor will find it easy to exercise his constitutional right to vote, whether in domestic or foreign service. To do this it was necessary to advance the primary date so ballots would have time to reach the men. This was one of the points which the Democratic administration opposed."

"The bill is neither cumbersome nor unworkable and is one of the most constructive passed by the legislature. We insisted and quite properly on two main points: First, that the soldier-sailor vote must be handled under bipartisan auspices, with both parties equally represented; and second, that the primary and other dates must be advanced to permit earlier mailing of ballots, thus expediting the vote in a reasonable time."

Under this new measure, voters may apply for ballots, and after a check with local election boards to determine the applicants' right to vote, ballots will be mailed to men in the domestic and foreign service by September 22.

Overseas ballots may be returned to the commission up to December 10 while those from men in domestic service are returnable October 30 four days before Election Day. The ballots will contain the names of all candidates, arranged by counties and assembly districts.

Major advances in the state's political calendar are: August 18 instead of September 24, opening of state and judicial conventions; August 25 for filing party nominations, and August 11 instead of September 16, as last year, for primary election day.

Boy Scouts Are on Salvage Campaign

House-to-House Canvass Is Started in City

Boy Scouts of Kingston this morning started a store to store canvass to enlist merchants in the "Salvage for Victory" drive that is being staged in the city. Householders are being urged by the local salvage committee that during the week of June 1, they are being asked to place all scrap rubber they find in containers and set them out on the curb for collection by trucks.

At all of the stores the Boy Scouts are leaving written instructions explaining how each store can join in the campaign by gathering up all waste materials and discarded equipment no longer being used. A pledge card is also left which the merchant is asked to fill out and drop in the mail which is addressed to the Bureau of Industrial Conservation in Washington.

Articles to save include waste paper, old rags, scrap metals and old rubber.

Please publish this letter in behalf of all mothers who have given their sons to defend our country. We beg of you Americans to please live up to what our government is asking of you. We mothers are not in politics, and no matter if you do not like the way our country is run, please do not let our boys down. They are giving their lives so you can live and be free. I am sure our government would not ask you to go easy on sugar, rubber and gas if it was not so. Stephen Decatur said: "Our Country! Right or wrong. Just One of the Million Mothers."

several street lights in the vicinity of the house out of commission until repairs were made.

The New York Telephone Company reported about half a dozen telephones placed out of commission in the city, and about a dozen telephones in the outlying area.

The total rainfall Friday afternoon and early this morning was .41 of an inch, according to the records of the city engineer, while the total precipitation so far this month has been 2.58 inches.

The highest temperature recorded by the official city thermometer was 80 degrees at noon Friday, while the lowest point recorded that day was 61 degrees during the early morning.

At the Central Fire Station it was reported that two of the first alarm circuits had been opened but that otherwise there was no damage to the system.

July 1 Set as Date For Special Sale For U. S. Defense

All of the retailers of Kingston are asked to suspend the sale of all merchandise for a period of a quarter of an hour at 12 o'clock noon on July 1, and to devote that brief period exclusively to the sale of war stamps and bonds. Request that such action be taken in the city is asked in a telegram received this morning by Mayor William F. Edelmuht from Benjamin N. Namm, chairman of the Retailers Advisory Committee.

The mayor said that the request was made that he notify Mr. Namm immediately as to the number of retailers who could cooperate and that it was hoped there would be a 100 per cent compliance with the request.

The telegram stated that it was hoped all merchants would cooperate in this vital program, which is to launch a nation-wide campaign of "Retailer for Victory."

Mayor Edelmuht is requesting the three business men's associations of the city to notify him as to the number of merchants who plan to comply with the telegram request.

Edward J. Mack Inducted As Dutchess Surrogate

Edward J. Mack, son of former Supreme Court Justice John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie, was inducted into office as surrogate of Dutchess county, at the court house in Poughkeepsie Friday, in the presence of some 200 judges, lawyers and friends of the new official. Judge John T. Loughran of the Court of Appeals conducted the induction ceremony.

Among members of the Ulster County Bar present, in addition to Judge Loughran, were Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schrick, Surrogate Harry H. Flemming, former County Judge Andrew J. Cook and Attorney Joseph Avia. Preceding the induction there was a testimonial dinner given by the Dutchess County Bar Association at the Nelson House.

Surrogate Mack fills the unexpired term of Surrogate Daniel Gleason. He will be the candidate on the Democratic ticket next fall for the full six-year term.

New York, May 23 (AP)—Scattered stocks gave a fairly good account of themselves in today's market but many leaders were unable to attract buying attention.

The list exhibited considerable hesitancy at the opening and, near the final hour, fractional gains and losses were pretty well divided. Dealings were negligible throughout.

Further waning of the peace theme in the wake of Washington warnings of a long, hard war, brokers said, had much to do with dimming the speculative and investment picture. Conflicting claims from the Russian-Nazi battle fronts also served to promote conservatism among potential buyers.

Bonds were mixed and commodities steady.

Among stocks in front at intervals were du Pont, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, American Can, Woolworth, Chesapeake & Ohio, Pepsi-Cola, U. S. Steel and Standard Oil (N. J.).

Backward were Bethlehem, American Telephone, Southern Railway, Sears Roebuck, Goodrich, Texas Co. and Republic Steel.

Milk Production Far From Uniform

Production, Test, Price Vary Month to Month

Albany, May 23—Milk amounting to 6,538,725,000 pounds in addition to 16,331,000 pounds of farm skimmed cream were received from producers at milk and dairy products plants in New York state in 1941. The products were valued at $1,742,499,000.

By 76,249 farmers, of whom 69,494 delivered whole milk and 6,755 delivered cream, according to the June count as reported in a federal-state summary issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

These figures do not include the milk from farms selling their entire production direct to consumers.

Peak receipts of milk in May 1941 totaled 742,967,000 pounds with June slightly under this amount, the reverse of the situation in previous years. On a daily average basis, however, June still retained its usual peak.

The June daily average milk receipts were greatly by two-thirds than those of January, the low month. There were, as usual, marked contrasts in various parts of the state, the daily June receipts in St. Lawrence county, for example, having been slightly over three times as great as in January, while in Orange county June exceeded January on a daily average basis, by only 5 per cent, with many variations in the different counties.

The annual average milk-fat test of the milk was 3.79 per cent, ranging from 3.65 in April to 3.98 in November for the state as a whole. Wide ranges in average tests occurred, related both to the predominant breeds of cattle and to the seasonal characteristics of production. In one county with heavy spring and summer production the average fat test ranged from 3.39 per cent in April to 4.06 in November, while in a county of relatively uniform production and with a somewhat greater proportion of cows of high-testing breeds the range covered less than 2 points, from the April low of 3.70 per cent to the November and December high of 3.67.

The average price received by producers for the milk delivered at plants, including both plus and minus differentials for test, location, grade, and other adjustments, was $2.33 per 100 pounds. The average for May was $1.92 and for November, $2.95.

Home Defense

Dance Brings Fun and Fund

A donation dance was held last evening at the Town of Ulster garage on Albany avenue extension for the benefit of Civilian Defense.

The rafters of the garage resounded from the merry dancers who danced and contributed funds to furnish and equip a first aid station for the district. Music for the dance was contributed by the Hayseiders, Bill Williams and his Modernistics; Pete Boice and his Mutton Hollow Ramblers. It was not until early this morning that the affair broke up, with the dancers pronouncing the dance for Civilian Defense a decided success both socially and financially.

Production Board Answers Several Major Questions

(Note: The questions presented below are based on the hundreds of queries presented each day to the Field Offices of the War Production Board, the Office of Price Administration, and other Office for Emergency Management agencies. The answers are official and are prepared by the Regional Information Office of the O.E.M.)

Q Does O. P. A.'s Summer seasonal goods regulation (No. 142) exclude garments made of wool gabardine and tropical worsted fabrics?

A Yes; the regulation defines men's Summer suits, coats, trousers, and slacks as those "which are washable; or which are made of fabrics of cotton, linen, rayon, or other synthetic fiber; or any combination thereof; or of summer-weight fabrics containing not more than 15 per cent of wool." The excluded garments must be priced under the General Maximum Price Regulation.

Q What is the purpose of the wood allocation order M-93?

A To provide a practical mechanism whereby W. P. B. may make sure that the products of the pulp and paper industry and of those industries dependent upon wood pulp will be available when and where they are needed in the national war program.

Q What industries are directly affected by M-93?

A The pulp, paper, rayon, plastics, explosives, cellophane, paints, lacquer, and photographic industries.

Q Does the General Maximum Price Regulation apply to comb honey?

A No, comb honey is excluded from the regulation as a raw agricultural commodity. However, extracted honey is covered under the regulation at all levels, including retailer, wholesaler, bottler, importer and beekeeper.

Q What types of furniture are covered by the Summer seasonal goods regulation?

A Rattan, metal, and wood chairs; tables, settees, gliders, and umbrellas for outdoor or porch use; beach pads; rubberized or coated slip covers to protect outdoor furniture; and summer rugs made of grass or fiber.
